

Ganesha statue type

Copyright © 2013 by Easterly Beauty Workshop

Un-Photoshopped picture taken by amateur photographer using instant camera

(West Java's Sundanese ethnic style, adaptation of Hindu teaching) The remover of obstacles, patron of arts and sciences, God of intellect and wisdom.

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Price with discount US$127.00

Sales price US$127.00

Sales price without tax US$127.00

Discount

Tax amount

Ask a question about this product

Description

GANESHA

(West Java's Sundanese ethnic style, adaptation of Hindu teaching)

The remover of obstacles, patron of arts and sciences, God of intellect and wisdom.

Ganesha, also spelled Ganesa or Ganesh, is widely revered as the remover of obstacles, Lord of beginnings, patron of arts and sciences, God of intellect and wisdom. He is the son of God Shiva and Parvati.

Devotion to Ganesha is widely diffused and extends to Buddhists, and beyond sub-continent of India. His image is found throughout India, Tibet, Nepal, South-East and East Asia.

Product specification:

Wood: Alstonia spp.

Process: Hand made.

Colour: Full colour.

Height: ± 40 cm.

Weight: Approx. 2.5 kg (including packaging).